PROJECT PROFILE

All-Natural Wood That Withstands The Outdoors

Americana™ Shiplap Siding was specified for a new high-profile restaurant project outside Chicago. The project included a natural-wood façade, including planters that surround the outdoor seating area. Weather conditions in Chicago can be extremely harsh, and even a few years following installation the Americana siding product continues to meet all expectations. In this case, the Americana Shiplap Siding was allowed to silver naturally, requiring minimal to no maintenance yet easily withstanding the elements, while beautifully blending with other architectural highlights.
