

Real Wood Transformed

PROJECT PROFILE

Real Wood for an All-Natural Environment

Problem: A family in Northern California seeking a new deck addition for their home. They were seeking a very natural solution and appearance, but also needed a decking infrastructure that was both weather-proof and fit nicely with the surrounding wooded landscape. Environmental considerations were paramount in this setting, so all-natural materials were specified.

Solution: Americana's Thermally Modified Ash Groove & Groove Decking. The owner wanted to maintain the beautiful brown color of the wood and chose to apply Cutek Extreme to enhance the water-resistant properties of the wood, but more importantly to prevent the wood from silvering out naturally. Americana's Thermally Modified Ash decking is domestically sourced (from the dense woodlands of Pennsylvania) and manufactured product, completely sustainable, free of chemicals, and with minimal carbon footprint. Americana is the all-natural choice for a lifetime of enjoyment!